

All The Real Dirt On Dust!

Did you know that national statistics show indoor pollution levels can range two to three times higher than outdoor pollution?

Because of today's tightly closed energy-efficient houses, our homes actually trap contaminants making the air potentially dangerous. Clean air from our heating and cooling systems is imperative.

The Solution "The Scientific Method"

Marcel's Air Duct Cleaning is a family operated business locally owned and managed for over twenty years. Starting as a chimney cleaning business, the company saw the need for cleaner air in the home, and decided to expand their expertise.

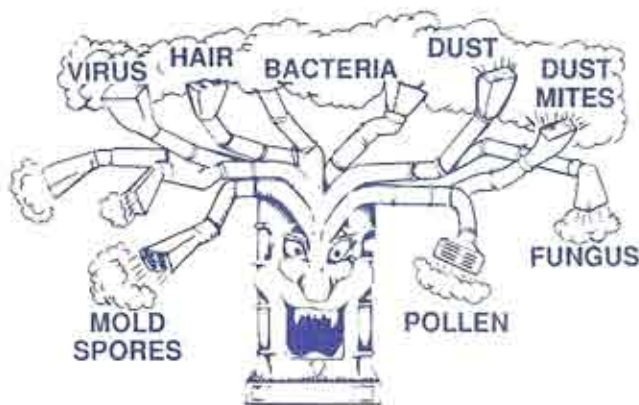

The process of cleaning air ducts in heating and cooling systems was thoroughly analyzed and after much research a unique method that guarantees to clean 100% of the system was established.
